time we did not pass him, but watched from a corner at a distance.

"Twenty minutes and a half between going and coming," exclaimed my companion. "And a handy boat; for he comes up the corner there," pointing to one a little beyond the shop—"and goes down this street next ours."

The impression began to steal over me that it was committing, or helping to commit, a felony, and that if caught

I might get into trouble. I thought of running for it; but the remark my companion made at that moment, to the effect that it would be a short run if I deserted him (for he seemed to see I didn't like the job), deterred me.

I dared not explain that he had made a mistake, for I felt sure that he must have mistaken me for some ally of the law. "Must go through with it," thought I. "I'll leave no outside to watch, and I'll look it then?" So I went on.

He crossed the street again the moment the policeman was past interfering with us, and producing a piece of paper, he applied it against the rule thereof. I holding it against the rule thereof, while he set out "three and a half by the shop." This done, he set it within two inches of the measurement all round, and then producing a trace-pot from his pocket, he smothered one side of the cloth with treacle, and, desiring me to hold it, he immediately clapped on to the skylight, the treacle making it adhere firmly to the glass. Then, looking at his watch, he cried:

"By Jingo! half-past three this minute!"

and away we walked. A glum look came over his face, as we turned the next corner. Not yet in sight. We stopped and waited, but the policeman came not.

My friend muttered an oath, adding,

"I'll go. Come along; but keep your weather-eye open!" And off we went.

"Perhaps he is watching us," I suggested. But the idea was discarded as not in the nature of a policeman to "like that our way."

THE PASSING HOUR.

The course of base-ball often falls to rest tiresomely, that a remarkable crookedness was developed in the Weymouth college team on meeting lately to open the season raced out no fewer than five of the players of the University of Michigan in professional.
If these things are done in the presence of sports, what can be expected in the day?

A FLEET of 30,000 merchant ships bears the British flag, and the earnings in transportation are well to reach $75,000,000 yearly, a large part of which is contributed by the United States. The passenger earnings are also obtained chiefly from the pockets of Americans, except what is specified from the condition of the weather in regard to its results. A slight cooling may develop into malignant pneumonia in a person of delicate health, while a severe cold may result in pneumonia in a person of robust health and robust health.
There is no disease which pays more respect to obedience to the laws of health than pneumonia. They who study and observe these laws are able to avoid the disease, and those who do not, should bear in mind that this is the season of pneumonia, and therefore take appropriate precautions to protect themselves from colds.

The action of the board of managers of the New York police academy in passing a rule that no member shall smoke during school hours shall be held in great esteem for every one.
Business hours are not the time, nor is a businessman's place, for smoking. Of late years the habit has been growing in some of our citizens to smoke in public places, and in many cases it is a disgrace to the community.
